Y-Not Natural Aromatherapy Skin Care Products

Y-Not Natural skin care products are formulated to be the purest, safest and most beneficial skin care products on the market.

Pure - because they combine the best of science and nature;

Safe - because they are extensively tested to ensure consumer safety; and Beneficial - because they target the skin where it is needed to provide maximum benefits.

Formulations that start and finish with herbs and botanicals and focus on the fundamental basics of cleansing, moisturising and rejuvenating the skin.

Y-Not Natural Pure Emu Oil

Our quality Western Australian Emu Oil is the most penetrative oil known to mankind. For this very reason it is a sort after compound in the cosmetic and medical fields as a transdermal carrier and neutral emollient. Emu oil's unique combination of polyunsaturated fatty acids has anti-inflammatory properties which can penetrate down into muscle tissue and joints.

This will relieve the aches and pains associated with arthritis and rheumatism, sporting injuries and tension related muscular soreness. Because of its natural properties it also removes redness and swelling from the skin without clogging the pores or leaving any greasy residue.

Emu oil with its combined effects of naturally occurring Vitamin E and A - of which it is one of the richest sources - and the anti-inflammatory properties, aids in skin repair. Emu oil promotes faster healing with less pain and scarring on open wounds, burns, blistering, sunburn and other skin injuries, and removes the itch and sting of insect bites.

An excellent moisturiser in its own right, Emu oil enhances the skin's water retention abilities, which work to transform rough, dry skin to a smoother and healthier texture. It inhibits wrinkles and other ravages of aging, and importantly aids in cell rejuvenation, giving you younger looking, healthy and radiant skin.

Anecdotal evidence and clinical experiments show that Emu Oil is an effective alternative to cortisone in the treatment of skin conditions such as eczema, dermatitis and psoriasis. The properties of Emu oil relieve itching and irritation, removes redness and the appearance of aggravation, softens the skin, and importantly allows the condition to heal where the skin is broken. Emu oil also removes the dryness and flaking of dead skin.

Western Australia Dr George HOBDAV (MD) was the first person to conduct extensive trials in the use of Emu oils in Australia for human applications. His clinical trials identified that the following medical and skin conditions benefited from the application of Emu oil:

ECZEMA

Those who suffer from the irritating symptoms of Eczema regularly complain that current moisturisers available on the market for consumers directly irritate their skin. Recent reports and scientific studies have shown the benefits that Emu oil can provide to significantly reduce irritation and inflammation of the skin. Emu oil is an excellent follow-up to steroid treatment and provides ongoing skin benefits for the Eczema sufferer.

KELOIDS

Massaging Emu Oil twice daily has shown its ability to significantly reduce keloid scarring. Continual use has also shown researchers that it will help prevent the formation of keloid tissue.

BURNS

The use of Emu Oil on early blistering of burns is known to promote faster healing with fewer scars and reduce the pain which is associated with burn injuries. Burns are one of the nastiest injuries due to the disfiguration of the skin that they cause. Now there is an easily obtainable treatment available in the form of Emu oil to ensure that scarring is kept to a minimum.

DONOR SITES IN SKIN GRAFTING

The donor site after skin grafting appears to benefit from the application of Emu Oil again reducing pain and scarring.

JOINTS

Sooner or later everyone is going to experience pain, swelling and stiffness in the joints which are close to the skin surface, especially in the hands, feet and elbows. Studies have shown a positive response with Emu oil when massaged into the skin of the affected area two to three times a day. A home made compress of the oil, (e.g. a piece of cloth or a few tissues soaked in the oil and wrapped around the joint over night) has been reported to be extremely effective and hassle free.

GROWING PAINS

Are your children suffering from growing pains? Massage Emu oil into the affected area before they go to sleep. It is an effective and rapid method of reducing the pain suffered by our children going through the growth process. Give your children the pain free life that they deserve.

BRUISING AND MUSCLE PAIN

Emu Oil has shown itself to provide significant benefits to recent bruising and muscle pain where injury is relatively superficial. Use the massage and compress combination. Sports related muscle pains can benefit with a post-exercise Emu oil massage.

RECENT WOUNDS

Emu Oil applied to epithelialised wounds will help reduce scar tissue formation. The anti-inflammatory action soothes wounds after surgery and reduces that acute pain of surgery. Emu Oil in its pure state has been tested and shown not to grow any organisms allowing it to be safely used on any open wound area. It will significantly speed up the healing process and reduce the visible effects of scarring.

ANIMAL USE

Emu Oil is effective in the treatment of many ailments suffered by domestic animals. Now with our Emu oil products skin conditions on animals may be treated the same as humans. Emu oil is extremely effective in reducing muscle soreness in racing and show dogs, cats and horses.

From The Land Down Under Comes A Natural Wonder.

For tens of thousands of years the Australian Aborigine has been using Emu Oil. Through necessity they found that the oil from this magnificent native bird had great anti-inflammatory and healing properties. Countless generations of Australian Aboriginals have proven the Emu Oil does work and that is why they continue to use it to this day.

What is the origin of Emu Oil?

The oral history of the Australian Aborigine indicates that they have seen the benefits and used Emu Oil for over forty thousand years. They used Emu Oil to gain relief from minor aches and pains, to help heal wounds quicker, and protect their skin from the harsh elements of wind and sun.

Aborigines in Western Australia and elsewhere reveal that methods of treatment included hanging an Emu skin on a tree to collect the oil, and wrapping sufferers in a fresh killed skin. In both cases the catalyst of the sun's heat was used to liquefy the Emu fat and enhance its absorption qualities. The applications of Emu oil are much easier today with modern technology and know how.

The Australian Aborigines introduced Emu Oil to the first Europeans as a natural sun screen and skin moisturizer. The use of Emu Oil was among the many natural remedies adopted by settlers from the original inhabitants of Australia. Use of Emu Oil was most prevalent in country areas where it was applied in the treatment of bruised and subcutaneous tissue, burns and dry skin problems.

Only recently however was the benefits of Emu oil brought to the attention of modern man. The first report known was published in the Australian Post regarding experiments by Dr. Peter Gosh, Raymond Purves Bone and Joint Research Laboratories, University of Sydney at the Royal North Shore Hospital and Dr. Michael Whitehouse, Department of Pathology, University of Adelaide.

Emu oil has diverse applications ranging from cosmetics, soaps, and shampoos to analgesics. Emu oil is a natural, environmentally friendly product which will look after the needs of you and your family.

Long known for its healing and penetrating properties, Emu oil is a natural emollient that is suitable for both skin care and cosmetics. Emu oil helps combat the effects of the aging process. Research has shown Emu oil can thicken the skin, which reduces the appearance of aging. It is a natural product which is a better alternative to corrective cosmetic surgery.

Medical specialists are discovering the benefits of Emu oil and are adapting it into their treatment techniques for relieving the symptoms of arthritis, preventing scars, and treating eczema.

The anti-inflammatory properties of Emu oil make it a must have in any household. Professional sports trainers and players are increasingly recognizing the benefits of Emu oil and use it for sprains, pulled muscles, and sore joints.

Emu oil has also been proven to thicken the skin of the elderly by as much as 14 percent and is used widely to treat pressure sores and reduce the incidence of skin lacerations.
